

PUBLICATION OF IAPL 2007 CONFERENCE PAPERS

In conjunction with the Lexington Books TEXTURES: Philosophy/ Literature/ Culture Series (edited by Hugh J. Silverman), the IAPL is pleased to invite conference participants to submit final versions of their papers for possible inclusion in a volume resulting from IAPL 2007.

The IAPL reserves the right of first selection on all papers presented at its annual conferences. Since the number of papers that can be included is limited, selections will be made on the basis of quality of work and relevance to the theme of the volume to be published.

SUBMISSION DETAILS

- Submit a hard copy and a disk file to the conference registration desk by Friday, June 8th.
 - Final corrected version to be sent to Maria Margaroni at the University of Cyprus no later than September 1st, 2007. Decisions by December 1st, 2007.
 - Submissions should include a hard copy and a PC compatible disk copy.
 - Disk version in Word ["doc" or "rtf"] or WordPerfect ["wpd"].
-
- Submit six separate electronic files:
 1. Your essay [yourname essay.doc]
 2. Endnotes [yourname notes.doc]
IMPORTANT: Endnotes should be complete for first citation, including a "Henceforth cited as [underlined abbreviation of reference]." Do not use repeating endnotes (such as Ibid or the like) for the same text. Subsequent citation references to the same text should be included in the main body of the text followed by the italicized abbreviation and the relevant pages.
 3. List of abbreviations of references cited more than once in endnotes [yourname abbrev.doc]
 4. Abstract of paper [yourname abstract.doc]
 5. Bibliography of works related to the volume theme [yourname biblio.doc]
 6. Contributor's biographical note [yourname bio.doc]